- Universal/Standard Precautions, as defined by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), must be used in all patient care in dentistry. This term refers to a set of precautions designed to prevent transmission of human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), hepatitis B virus (HBV), and other bloodborne pathogens in health care settings. Under Universal/Standard Precautions, blood and saliva (in dentistry) of all patients are considered potentially infectious for HIV, HBV, and other bloodborne pathogens. Applied Universal/Standard Precautions means that the same infection control procedures for any given dental procedure must be used for all patients. Thus, the required infection control policies and procedures to be used for any given dental procedure are determined by the characteristics of the procedure. Therefore, Universal/Standard Precautions are procedure specific, not patient specific.
